Sandy here is the target “bookmarkers” for giving a grade for staying in the target language. I haven’t used this yet but look forward to trying it out. Also, here are the websites I mentioned last night, along with some other ones.

Great actividades didácticas:

www.marcoele.com

www.todoele.net

http://web.uvic.ca/hrd/span100/main_dialogue.htm - dialogues by topic writing:

<http://www.longwood.edu/staff/goetzla/202/202Abby.htm> - level 3; dear abby letter, giving advice (very similar to what I do with our unit 6 dear abby letter)

listening:

www.audiria.com

http://langmedia.fivecolleges.edu/collection/lm_argentina/ar_index.html - real videos (Argentina) showing every tasks

<http://frecuenciacero.com.mx/> - level ¾

Subject: TODAY

I sent a message through the eLearning system this morning. Please pardon yet another message, but I want to make sure that you have this information.

I will have the session broken into the following 5 segments today:

1. Teaching Vocabulary
2. Teaching Culture
3. Student Assessment (Formal and Informal)
4. Organizing Units for Instruction
5. Intentional use of the target language

We are meeting in Room B202 at Dulles High School. Check the district websites/campuses if you need directions to get to the school. Please park in the lot right in front of the main circle drive entrance of the school (closest to the traffic light and practice field). Enter through the front door. The door will be locked, but I will ask someone to wait until 4:30 to let teachers in. If you arrive after 4:30, please call me on my cell 281-782-2588 so we can send someone to let you in.

When you enter, go immediately right past the giant Viking. Go up the stairs at the first hallway you come to and you'll see room B202 when you come off the stairs.

See you this afternoon!

Sandy
